Geneva September 23? 1796

Dear Sir

Yours of the 16th Inst. inclosing a letter from my father, is just now open in my hand one minute before the mail of this evening closes. On my return to Paris I shall have many occasions to make you for the trouble which my father gives you with my letters; and will express to you in person, if it is possible to express, the high & just sense of gratitude which I entertain for the many instances of friendship you have shewn me.

Your letter, of September 9th was duly received, and I thank you much for the information it contained. I think of leaving Geneva in a very few days. Mr Short gives me reason to hope, in a letter I this morning received from him, that it will not be long before he arrives, & I wait here only for his arrival.

I am barely in time for the Post therefore will only add (what I am sure it is unnecessary to add) that I am with the greatest friendship & regard Dr Sir

Your most obliged Servant

J. Rutledge Junior
